Stories:

Story Number One :

I wake up early in the morning to catch my morning session, usually I don't like morning classes because looking at screens usually hurts my eyes but the smooth colors of my class program didn't hurt, the lecture was pretty tough and a couple of parts i didn't get but since everything is recorded I didn't worry, After my class, I ate lunch and rested then by the afternoon my friends called me to enter the study session that they created after we were finished we made a list of the questions that we were going to ask our teacher during the question session, it was a long day and I had a headache but i felt better when i get a notification saying that a java Fx programming course was on sale on Udemy and i was looking for one.

Story Number Two :

I woke up in the afternoon as usual because i stayed up late to solve the exam exercise that got posted, i decided to download the morning lecture that I missed,

I was a bit behind on my studies but i wasn't worried because the final was 3 weeks away and i got a good mark on my oral and practical work, i went to take a shower to wake up before the question sessions that I had was hard having three of them but because there was a 20 minutes break I could make some coffee in between before I went to sleep i had a fight with my brothers because they were notified that i missed my morning class it was a really long day and i can't wait to sleep.